About Scouts WA

Scouting is a global voluntary, non-political, educational movement of young people, supported by adults. It is open to, and inclusive of all.

While the Scout Movement started informally as an experimental camp for youth led by founder Lord Baden-Powell in 1907, our organisation has continued to develop and adapt alongside Scout members and society for well over 114 years.

In 2022, participating in Scouts is more essential than ever before.

The core aspects of the Scouts experiential approach to learning and development also builds crucial life and social skills youth, adolescents, and young adults need to proactively navigate the formal education process.

Core commitment

At the core, Scouts delivers positive social impact based on a value system for creating a better world. We help Scout members identify and realise self-fulfilment as individuals in conjunction with learning to contribute to their communities and society at large.

Our purpose

Scouting is based on the concept of non-education, and it acknowledges each young person as a unique individual. Our program focuses on personal progression. This puts young people at the centre and recognises that each individual has unique needs. This enables opportunities and reflections for Scouts to learn to take responsibility for their own development across six fundamental areas, Social Development, Physical, Intellectual, Character, Emotional, and Spiritual Development.

Our method

We give Scouts WA members opportunities to experience and learn about ethics, values, and service to others. They engage deeply with their communities and learn firsthand about the environment.

All Scouts accomplish a wide range of skills, covering basic planning through to advanced survival training. Learning is structured through our four Challenge areas and balanced by the eight elements of our unique Scout Method. Scouts are encouraged to problem solve, and develop a desire for self-learning. Activities build upon our method of 'youth leading, adult supporting' (YLAS) throughout the program.

Our results

Research confirms youth members regularly report improved self-esteem, self-confidence, and interpersonal skills. Scouting has positively impacted their personality and way of being.

Studies have shown that participating in Scouting provides lifelong benefits as youth members develop resilience, leadership skills and grow in self-awareness. This in turn brings lasting positive influence on their mental health.

One Program, One Journey

Scouting Online

The Foundations of Today's Scouting Program

Scouting provides young Australians, of all ages, gender, and ability, with challenging and adventurous opportunities so they may grow and develop in the five areas of personal growth outlined in the Purpose of Scouting.

The Purpose of the Scout Movement is to contribute to the development of young people in achieving their full physical, intellectual, emotional, social and spiritual potentials as individuals, as responsible citizens and as members of their local, national and international communities.

Scouting provides the youth of our Australia an adventurous, fun, challenging and inclusive personal development program.

SPICES

The personal development areas of social, physical, intellectual, emotional and spiritual make up the fundamental basis of a person's character, making six areas all up! We refer to this as SPICES.

The Scout Method

The Scout Method has eight elements that support the development of young people.

The Scout Method is unique to Scouting and Scouting is unique because of this Method, and the way in which it educates and develops young people.

Key Elements of the Scouting Program

Challenge Areas

The Challenge Areas are the core of the program. They assist in developing great programs, and form part of the requirements for participation and achievement in each Section. Through a process of participate-assist-lead, Scouts can track their progress in the program.

Core

Land Based

Water Based

Outdoor Adventure Skills

Outdoor Adventure Skills are the link between adventurous activities experienced through the Scouting program.

They:

- Provides a progressive pathway to build skills
- Enables access to basic skills for a range of activities
- Uses multiple streams to provide opportunities to specialise in a skill area

Key Elements of the Scouting Program

Special Interest Areas

Special Interest Areas are tailored to an individual's own interests and requiring Scouts to set their own goals for the area they are pursuing. The challenges are set by youth members using Plan>Do>Review>.

Adventurous Journey

Adventurous journeys are exploration of the outdoors in a way that stretches or tests personal limits.

Plan Do Review

Plan>Do>Review> means better activities, more fun, and achievement for all!

Plan>Do>Review> helps ensure everyone has a fun and adventurous time in Scouting, and gets to learn something new.

Peak Awards

The peak award for each section represents the highest level of achievement across all fields of personal progression.

Scouting Adventures

Scouting provides new adventures for its members locally, nationally, and internationally all with a focus on personal and community development.

Many heroes have been a part of Scouts Australia. Like Australian/American Astronaut Andy Thomas. Or new heroes about to hit the global stage.

Former Scouts Dr Gareth Andrews & Dr Richard Stephenson strive to be the first people in history to ski unsupported across Antarctica. A 110-day journey commencing November 2022. Their adventure, 'The Last Great First', reflects the qualities of a Scout, discipline, resilience in the face of adversity, resourcefulness, and self-reliance.

An expedition that will make history in the annals of polar exploration.

Leadership Report

A message from our Chief Commissioner

Ayden Mackenzie JP
Chief Commissioner

This is my third year as Chief Commissioner for Scouts WA, and thankful for and efforts of our members and volunteers.

Every day, I learn something from our youth members. The highlight of my role is seeing them grow and learn, through the fun, adventurous, challenging and inclusive activities Scouting offers them.

Reflections...

The past two years have required significant resilience to overcome the number of changes to our everyday lives caused by the COVID-19 epidemic. Despite the challenges and unknowns, we came together and remained connected to, and supported by, our Scouting community.

Looking forward...

I'm sure I'm not alone in feeling that 2022 is the year we all move forward and reactivate our Scouting activities and adventures safely, as COVID-19 restrictions change again thanks to our state's proactive vaccination and lockdown strategy.

Scouts has always been about connecting young people and empowering them to build their skills. Our members have adapted to changing safety measures by using digital, online sessions to maintain links and continue their personal progression.

However, I am eagerly anticipating the return of major events this year, like the Enduro, and our One Camp in April 2023, and the Australian Jamboree in 2025.

I am also looking forward to working with Jess Karlsson, as our new CEO. Over the past six months, Jess and her team have provided a huge amount of energy and commitment to working collaboratively to build on our existing programs and activities and help us improve Scouts WA wherever we can.

Thank you to our members...

Additional to the achievements and learnings of the young people in Scouts, it is clear WA benefits enormously from the contribution made by our Adult Leaders. Our volunteers have continued to provide support, care, and guidance to Scouts across all different age groups, starting from Joey Scouts through to Rover Scouts.

In 2021-22, 5282 young people in WA were supported by 678 Leaders who delivered the Youth Program. These Leaders were further helped and guided by 179 Program Support Leaders. Over 13,404 youth development opportunities for children and young people have been provided across WA and this amounts to more than 1 414 800 hours of volunteering – an incredible achievement we should be proud of! Our Adult Leaders have collectively provided over 13,404 education and youth development activities for children and young people across the State and contributed more than 1,414,800 hours of volunteering – this is a remarkable achievement!

I would like to thank all our Scout Leaders and Members for their significant commitment to Scouts WA, and for encouraging people of all ages to learn and connect through Scouting activities. I look forward to seeing what we can achieve together in 2022-23, and beyond.

A message from our CEO

Jess Karlsson
Chief Executive Officer / Executive Manager

I am so excited, grateful, and proud to be a part of Scouts WA and believe wholeheartedly in the purpose of what we do, and the why, which drives our organisation and all our activities and operations.

Connection to our purpose...

It is clear to me already, that Scouts in WA has exceptional community impact, and is building great future and current leaders, through our youth and Scout programs.

Our Recycling and Adventure Centres are also having a huge positive impact and helping Scouts in WA to support more young people.

What Scouts does, which is to help give young people more opportunities to fulfil their goals and dreams, directly aligns with my personal purpose, and where I've dedicated my career as a CEO, and as a Volunteer. I can see all the staff, members, and volunteers I've connected with over the past six months are also committed to this important vision, which is at the heart and core of Scouting. I am very grateful to all of you who have welcomed me with openness and enthusiasm.

Opportunities for our future...

I can also see there are many opportunities for us to continue to increase our positive social and community impact and extend our reach, and I'm keen to share, and continue building upon my vision for our organisation, with you.

This vision has been co-developed through speaking with, and listening to our amazing members, volunteers, and staff.

- Transforming our way of working, through digital transformation
Implementing better, more secure, sustainable, user friendly and efficient systems to support the great work members, staff, and volunteers do, freeing up more of your time with Scouts to do more of what you enjoy, and focus on key priorities, with less paperwork!
- Building our brand in WA
Developing and delivering modern, compelling marketing campaigns, which clearly communicates our purpose, our social impact, and the benefits of Scouts in WA. Building our brand will help to grow our membership, whilst attracting more adult volunteers, and encourage more of our WA community to connect with Scouts WA through our exceptional Adventure Centres and innovative Recycling Centres.
- Creating a culture of philanthropy and imbedding large scale fundraising activities and income
Building new income streams through major gifts, philanthropy, and increased fundraising activity to support the ongoing growth and development of Scouts in WA. This will mean presenting Scouts as a charitable cause and demonstrating our community and social impact to the right audiences.
- Creating a culture of collaboration, transparency and outcomes focussed teamwork
Working together as one team is fundamental to our success, and I know, we (members, volunteers, staff) can achieve all the above and more.

Let's get Scouts in WA moving and shaking (in the best way) and recognised as the amazing organisation we are!

To achieve all the above, and more, it will take a lot of determination, and energy, which I am (and the entire team of staff are) committed to giving to Scouts WA. It will also take teamwork, open communication, and a focus on moving forward, and what's possible, with a new vision, culture and strategic plan, the future is bright for Scouts in WA.

Some of these will be quick wins, others will be a longer, more ongoing, and continuous journey – however, work towards all of these has started, and will continue every day.

As Chief Executive Officer/Executive Manager, I commit to working alongside our Board of Directors, our Chief Commissioner, his team of volunteers, our staff, and all of you as members, to achieve these goals in 2022, and more so in future years.

Board Chairperson Review

Greg Higham
Board Chairperson

The end of our Scouts WA financial year 2022 also aligns with the farewell to dedicated Executive Manager, Sherry Donaldson, who retired in February after a decade of wonderful service and overseeing significant growth in Scouts WA.

Together, we implemented a key department to contribute to our financial sustainability and support the great work within our programs. Our partnership with the State Government's Containers for Change scheme through our Scouts WA Recycling Centres is already reaping significant financial benefits and will undoubtedly set us up for great possibilities in the future.

During this time, we acquired, grew and upgraded our Scouts WA Adventure and Camping centres – Manjedal, Vasse, Eaton, Gilcreek and started the conversation with the Shire of Esperance, about our new Toowacka facility (at Esperance). They now return 100% of their profits back to their continued improvement and to our Scout Program.

Scouts WA Adventure Centres offer unique venues and facilities where Scouts and Scout Leaders can enjoy Scouting activities and are trained in the Scout Program, leadership and management. Our much-improved facilities have also received critical acclaim from many Western Australian community organisations and schools.

We have, of course, also been through over two years of COVID 19 disruptions, which have challenged the entire community, including our Scouting movement.

The way our staff, members and volunteers have united to overcome this challenge inspires me and makes me proud to be part of this organisation.

These achievements were made possible thanks to the dedication and tenacity of Sherry, as our Executing Manager. On behalf of the entire Board, I would like to thank Sherry for her hard work and contributions to Scouts WA.

I would also like to thank the Board of Directors for their work over the past year in driving Scouts WA's governance and strategic leadership. I would like to pay special thanks to those who have retired this year – Matthew Blycha, Genevieve Hohnen, and David Chamberlain. All have given excellent service through some tough times, and I trust that the experience has added to their lives and wish them each well for the future.

It has been a pleasure having the opportunity to keep the Honourable Kim Beazley AC, Governor of Western Australia and our Chief Scout, informed of our progress and to work with the Honourable Kerry Sanderson AC CVO, as our President and Dr Scott Sargent as our Vice President. Each of them has given wisdom and guidance to Scouts WA over the past twelve months, and on behalf of our Board, I give them special thanks for their support. I would like to make a very special thank you to our immediate past President, the inimitable Dr Ken Michael AC for his wisdom over the past four years - in particular, his very sage advice to me to strive for Stability, Unity and Focus will remain indelibly imprinted upon me.

February 2022 marks the beginning of a new era for Scouts WA, with the arrival of our new Chief Executive Officer, Jess Karlsson. The Board selected Jess for her experience, skills and passion for leading charitable youth and community organisations. Her arrival marks a timely opportunity for renewal and to raise the bar again and, as part of that, from this day forward I want us to look forward to what is possible for Scouts WA. With Jess and Ayden Mackenzie, our Chief Commissioner, and their teams of staff and volunteers, we can look forward to further transformations in this organisation.

I take this opportunity to welcome our new Board Directors, Greg Stagbouer, Natasha Morgan and Stephen Davies. Between them they bring a diverse range of the required and relevant skills to our Board to enable us to enhance the governance and strategic direction for Scouts WA.

The Board, with the assistance of our CEO and our Chief Commissioner and their respective teams of Staff and Volunteers, aims to review our Strategic Plan in 2022-23. Youth and adult members, volunteers and staff will be represented in the process of defining our strategic future for the next three to five years. In doing so, we will aim to capture what we do well, what we can do better, and to develop strategies for capturing new opportunities for Scouts WA.

As always, our Strategic Plan will continue our focus towards Scouting's core purpose of engaging more young people and their supporting adults through our programs and throughout the organisation, while building the necessary structure, systems and processes to enable us to do this as efficiently and effectively as possible.

We will continue to strive for Scouts WA to be acknowledged externally as Western Australia's pre-eminent youth organisation and to strive for the benefits of that recognition to be passed directly into our highly successful youth program.

I wish you all the best for the next year of Scouting, whatever role you play in this Team.

Yours in Scouting.

Our Volunteers, Adults in Scouting & Training

Youth Leading, Adults Supporting is one of the eight key elements we centre the Scout Method around. Scouting is a partnership between our children, adolescent and young adults and the adult supporters of their group.

Young people learn to lead at Scouts, making developmentally appropriate decisions about their program. Adults assist, guide, encourage, mentor and advise Scouts by transforming skills into meaningful learning experiences. Adult volunteers have important roles to play, from ensuring safety and continuity of the program, to providing crucial mentoring support for youth members.

Scouting could not have existed around the world without the support of adults, most of them volunteers, performing a wide range of skilled roles and functions. The scale of the training, organisation and function of our system is often overlooked or underestimated.

One Program, One Journey

To deliver the Scouting program across all sections, the various skills, competencies and training experiences required have been identified and organised into relevant proficiencies as part of our national Adult supporters' five step training program.

Complementing this framework is an organisation of volunteers and professionals overseeing the logistics required to conduct Scout training and provide education, support and mentoring for the whole adult management system.

Our Adult Training curriculum is a highly structured program providing valuable skills and qualifications for the volunteer adults.

Adults perform key roles and functions in making it possible to put our Mission into action. The quality of the Youth Program and the impact that Scouting has on society depends on the quality of our adults – they make it possible to put our Mission into action. Training is considered as a continuous process so as to regularly develop their competencies and empower them to engage with the youth program.

Leadership skills allow children to have control of their lives and the ability to make things happen.

Leadership instills confidence, and helps children solve problems creatively, work in a team, and work collaboratively with others.

Leadership gives children many opportunities to develop responsibility.

Chief Commissioner of Scouts WA

Ayden Mackenzie, Chief Commissioner of Scouts WA, is our most senior state volunteer and he heads up the team that organises, supports, and trains our volunteers. Ayden is a passionate advocate in the ethos of Youth Leading, Adult Supporting. His focus is on youth members and their program remaining at the core of everything we do.

As Chief Commissioner, Ayden has built a Branch Leadership Team to work with him on training, planning and strategy for the Youth Program Delivery and the Youth Program Supports.

The Branch Leadership Team (BLT) comprises:

1. Youth Program Delivery management: Regional Chief Commissioners (RCC) x four

WA is divided into 4 areas: Metropolitan Perth north and south, regionally, Perth country south and country north.

Under these areas, each is further divided into Districts encompassing 110+ Scout Groups.

RCC's provide support to the Scout formations under their care and ensure excellent program delivery to youth in their areas.

2. Youth Program Support management: Deputy Chief Commissioners (DCC) x five

Each of the DCC's roles involves developing and supporting different aspects of the delivery of the national Scouts Australia Youth Program.

a. Program Support – Creating opportunities for youth members to participate in the wide range of challenges and experiences that Scouts are renowned for. Program support is pivotal in encouraging Scouts to achieve the purpose of Scouting.

b. Youth Support – Ensures that the voice of our youth members is heard. Also facilitates consultation and collaboration in decision-making regarding the program and the youth members' journey.

c. Training Support – Scouts WA follows the National Curriculum for training all Adult leaders in delivery of the Youth Program and for Program Support. Scouts Australia operates the Wood Badge Training Program as a system for the training and development of all its Adult Leaders. It comprises Essentials, Adventure, Management, and Leadership curriculums, which are proficiency based and relate to the specific functions of each type of Leader. Additional training programs enhance the acquisition of further skills and knowledge.

d. Member Support – Well-being and welfare support to members including supplemental learning, education and awareness, tools and development opportunities and meeting the needs of the membership within the scouting context.

e. Operational Support – provides oversight and management of many support services and resources for the continuing needs of Scouting. Also ensures the physical asset needs of Groups at a strategic level are identified and plans accordingly.

3. The CEO, the Assistant Chief Commissioner, and the Chief Commissioner

The ACC assists the Chief Commissioner as required. Current projects include working on Ethical Standards, Marketing and with the Chief Commissioners on events.

The CEO, Jess Karlsson's presence on the BLT together with Richard Dearmun, our Operations Manager, provide a vital link between volunteers and the support of professional staff members at the National and Branch offices, ensuring a collaborative work process that supports the purpose of Scouting.

Volunteer Training Supporting the Youth Program

Every adult and many Rover Scouts will accomplish a five-step journey to become a fully trained leader. Our curriculum is consistent for all leaders, as we prepare to support our Scouts on their continuous journey through the Youth Program.

More than 90% of Scouting's volunteers say it has helped them develop personal and practical skills. The evidence from employers' backs this up too. Organisations say staff who have been involved in scouting are above average employees.

General Manager, Jack Seward, confirms the success of Scouts WA Recycling is multi-faceted. The teams focus on making the returns process convenient, fast, and simple with excellent customer service to reflect the Scouts purpose and principles.

In addition to the positive environmental impact, Scouts WA has used the opportunity to embrace our core commitment to providing positive social impact.

In partnership with the At Work Australia and other employment providers, Scouts WA Recycling has created 40 new roles providing meaningful employment, training and a sustainable income to young people, people living with disabilities, the long term unemployed and Indigenous Australians.

Scouts WA Adventures Centres

Jon Sayer
GENERAL MANAGER

Financial year 21/22
the combined net profit for Adventure Centres totalling $234,895.66 was returned to Scouts WA.

We founded the Scouts WA Adventure Centres (SWAAC) in 2021. We are proud to confirm profits generated from our Adventure Centres last year contributed to funding WA Scouts activities and resources for members. Our SWAAC portfolio and activities also supported the Fundamentals of Scouting in several ways.

Primarily, SWAAC is invested in providing adventures and activities that align to promote Scout youth members' exploration of, and progression through, key outdoor pursuits. And to be able to introduce Scouting to a wider range of WA youth and adults.

Currently consisting of five centres across the Southwest of WA, management of all sites in SWAAC is now based at our Manjedal offices with a small team headed up by General Manager and Queen Scout, Jon Sayer.

Centralising our WA Scout sites into one location has further promoted the development of our sites and facilities, activities, and offerings in line with the Outdoor Adventure Skills framework.

This framework has nine broad activity streams including nine developmental stages within each stream. Activities range from Bushcraft and Camping, through to more specialised activities such as Cycling, Vertical and Aquatic.

SWAAC assists our youth member's pathway to learning the Outdoor Adventure Skills in two important ways:

Providing access to safe, quality spaces for the adventures, activities and skills that Scouting is well known for and creating a consistent revenue stream for Scouting WA that will benefit all our Scout WA members

In the Financial Year 21/22, the combined net profit for the Adventure Centres totalling $234,895.66 was returned to Scouts WA.

Our Vision for 2023

Our vision for SWAACs, using the Scouting Method, is to be the leading providers of outdoor education (camping skills) and adventurous activities in Western Australia. We will be working to increase our reputation with Scouts, Schools, and Community Groups, as an exciting location for camping and a provider of comprehensive camping skills programs.

This year, we are committed to working collaboratively with more WA Scout Groups. SWAAC is focused on providing specific guidance to WA Scouts that will help them link the Outdoor Adventure Skills framework to specific SWAAC sites and activities. This information is being designed so Groups will be able to individualise and tailor the programs to suit their participants.

We particularly love it when our Scout Groups bring their young people to a SWAAC as part of their section program. Apart from the opportunity to meet and work with our Scouts, this simple support helps to ensure cash flow directly back into our resources for continuous maintenance and improvements for everyone involved with Scouts WA.

Scouts Fundraising, Events & Community Engagement

Given its potential to improve children's short and long-term outcomes, building resilience in our youth provides a foundation for developing coping skills and healthy thinking habits that are important for their mental health, ongoing.

Scouts recognises that youth, adolescents, and young adults with greater levels of resilience are better able to manage stress, acknowledged as a risk factor for mental health conditions in youth.

As part of our core commitment, purpose and principles, the Scout Program empowers young people to make decisions, take the lead and learn by doing. We provide safe spaces to work with others to plan and embark on their own adventures, indoors and out.

This builds the resilience in young people that inspires learning, the confidence to make mistakes and the understanding that success sometimes means things don't always work out the first time you try them.

The Scout program is not possible without your support, the generosity of our sponsors and grants supporting our vision, projects and people.

Our volunteer members and Grants and Projects Officer, Cesare Papa, worked collaboratively to plan, prepare and secure grants, funding and sponsorship this year. The additional fundraising was applied to programs, materials and supports essential for a successful, balanced Scouting program to run and develop continuously.

Grants for new buildings and equipment will help us to invite more people to Scouting and to be able to participate in this nurturing youth program.

Positive Outcomes for Resilient Scouts

From being able to find ways to solve a problem to being more likely to forgive themselves if they make a mistake, the Resilience Survey (compiled by Resilient Youth Australia in 2020) found Scouts demonstrate a far wider range of resilient behaviours than their peers.

Scouts also demonstrated higher levels of resilience when compared to their non-Scouting peers, and this result was consistent across a number of elements of resilience, including Positive Relationships, Social Skills, Understanding Self, Safe, Healthy Mind and Body, Positive Learners, Positive Identity, Positive Values and Positive Contribution.

And that's not all – the Resilience Survey also revealed that Scouts report to have an overall better life satisfaction than their peers, and that the longer they stay in Scouts the more resilient they are likely to be.

Events and Training

Scouting delivers opportunities to participate in programs, events, activities, and projects. These experiences contribute to the growth of young people, guided by adult volunteers.

Over the course of the program, we provide increasing opportunities for our members to take the initiative with 'youth leading, adult supporting' as one of our fundamental goals.

We provide an experience that is all about connecting with the outdoors; building new and existing friendships; learning new skills; and helping create a better world.

Scouting WA delivered over 156 events covering a wide range of topics and experiences last year. From planning to participating, Scouts are involved and invited to participate in every aspect of their development.

The benefits of scouting

Scouting provides lifelong benefits because our youth are given opportunities to try new things, provide service to others, build self-confidence, and reinforce ethical standards. These opportunities not only help them when they are young, but carry forward into their adult lives, improving their relationships, their work lives, their family lives, and the values by which they live.

A 2020 study showed that belonging to the Scout Movement significantly influenced the improvement of academic results in formal education and conflict resolution.

The more time children, adolescents and young adults spend in Scouting, the better the outcomes in character development.

Scouts are more likely to embrace positive social values than non-Scouts

Scouts WA can only grow and develop with your support. There are many ways to contribute, including joining our team!

Financial Donations

Ways you can support Scouts WA

There are no winners and losers at Scouts WA, and the only competition our members have is with themselves.

Most activities don't demand much financially and are not based on computer/smartphone screens.

We strongly encourage parents and families to participate especially with outdoor activities where skills including hiking, boating, camping, and survival training are covered as they're rarely taught elsewhere. Shared experiences create bonding and understanding.

Volunteer

We need all kind of volunteers in Scouting. Our program is designed as Youth Leading, and Adult Supporting so your participation is highly valued. Leaders of Youth work with Joey Scouts, Cub Scouts, Scouts, Venturers and Rover Scouts to deliver the youth program. Opportunities include:

- Scout Groups, School and Community Groups - plan your next camping, school or group experience at one of our Scouts WA Adventure Centres:
- Leaders of Adults such as Group Leaders, District Commissioners and District Leaders deal with the management of Groups and Districts and are there to support Youth Leaders.
- Adult Supporters are adults who commit to attending Scouting meetings and activities regularly to assist but choose not to become a Leader.

- Parent Supporters are parents who can only help occasionally or with specific duties, such as running activities or assisting at events.
- Group Support Committee Members assist with the running of a Scout Group by taking on roles such as Treasurer.

Scouts WA 2021-2022 Financials

The financial results for Scouts WA FY22 are reflective of our expansion into two business ventures that are still in the development stages, the ongoing effects of Redress Payments, and COVID cancellations at Scouts WA Adventure Centres (SWAAC).

The State operations continue to be financially supported by positive contributions from SWAAC of $234,895 and Scouts WA investments of $469,298.

The Container Deposit Scheme (CDS) in its start-up phase, had increases in various costs. The leasing and equipment purchased also had a substantial effect on depreciation costs. However, payoff of these expenditures has continued with the business experiencing rapid growth in the past year.

The CDS is already cashflow positive. In FY21, the contribution was $95,660. This is expected to be much higher next year and is projected to exceed $500,000.

The Containers for Change and SWAAC are both already reporting improved revenue up from last year, despite the SWAAC continuing to be affected by continuing COVID-19 cancellations.

These funds will be reinvested to move to improve and expand the Member experience, including a focus on improving branch processes and systems to deliver better member services and enable members to spend less time on "paperwork" and more time on activities.

Although the financial year results show a net loss of $670,1863, this includes costs of Redress Payments for $102,385 and depreciation of assets within the organisation totalling $596,664.

Redress Payments will continue to be a cost for some time to come as noted last year and reserves will be set aside in anticipation of this. Staff changes have also added to higher operation costs in FY22.

Looking forward for 2023, Scouts WA is focused on the growth of the organisation's income capability. Scouts WA also has a renewed focus on philanthropy and donations.

Thanks to our diligent, professional, and capable staff, executive team and board of directors, we are once again well positioned to grow and take advantage of further opportunities in the coming years.
